NOTE: Travel for conferences or meetings, and the award of a URS travel grant, does not 'officially' absences from class or missed deadlines. For this reason, travel awards are rarely made for more than three days of missed classes. Before you apply, check on your syllabi and with your instructors to ensure that your travel will not adversely effect your coursework.

- I understand that award of a travel grant will not excuse me from classes and verify that my travel dates will not adversely effect my course work.*

Was this research done as part of a course or a summer program or both?

- research in a course or Independent Study
- research in a Summer program
- both

Will you present a paper or poster?
